BEER & WINE TASTING HOSTED BY B-CC CHAMBER NEXTEXECS BENEFITS CSRF

Festive Fundraiser at Brickside Food & Drink Raises $1,300 in Donated Funds

A good time was had by all when young professionals from the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Chamber of Commerce NextExecs gathered to sample beer and wine and support the Combat Soldiers Recovery Fund (CSRF). More than seventy networkers nibbled on delicious hors d'oeuvres generously provided by Bethesda's Brickside Food & Drink, owned by Brian Vasile. The successful spring event, held on Thursday, May 8, featured tastings of five summer beers and samples of Cupcake wines.

Kudos to NextExecs Co-Chair Adam Kulikowski, Business Banker at CapitalOne, and Bethany Miller, B-CC Chamber Membership Development and Services Manager, for organizing this fabulous fundraiser. As part of the NextExecs' commitment to give back to the community, all proceeds from the event benefit CSRF. NextExecs provides its members with business networking, professional development, and community service opportunities.

Garland Miller, CSRF founder and president, expressed her gratitude to the NextExecs members, "who as young professionals in their 20's and 30's are the same age as many of the wounded warriors who will benefit from their support. I am grateful that NextExecs selected CSRF as the beneficiary of their event." She also thanks Brian Vasile and Brickside Food & Drink "for providing the perfect venue and delicious food for our fundraiser."

In addition to NextExecs, the event was attended by other CSRF supporters including upcoming B-CC Chamber Chair, Clyde Garrett II, Vice President, Business Development at Monument Bank. He remarked that "it is gratifying that the NextExecs, as tomorrow's business and community leaders, are stepping up to support our wounded heroes through the Combat Soldiers Recovery Fund."

THE COMBAT SOLDIERS RECOVERY FUND NOW IN WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

Thanks to our good friends, Bill and Anne Brooks, we have expanded to Delaware. Owner of Brooks Courier, Bill took five of his courier cars and decorated each one in support of a worthy cause, including the Combat Soldiers Recovery Fund. A CSRF decorated van is now seen driving around Wilmington increasing awareness of our mission. As Garland Miller notes, "Over the years, Bill and Anne Brooks have been active supporters. Whether it is giving a generous contribution or decorating one of their courier cars, they always come through for CSRF."

MEMORIAL DAY, MAY 26, 2014

A Day to Remember that Our Troops are Still in Harm's Way

Even a small donation makes a big difference to our wounded heroes still returning home with severe injuries. Start a Memorial Day tradition with a contribution to the Combat Soldier's Recovery Fund.

THANKS FOR TAKING TIME TO SUPPORT CSRF

The Combat Soldiers Recovery Fund is fortunate to have so many supporters who not only donate needed funds but give generously of their time. A special thanks to Betty Imirie for her administrative help and for accompanying Garland Miller to Walter Reed to distribute checks to our wounded servicemen and women.
